Edible Economy Podcast

Hosting the podcast from the Farm, multiple "local food celebrities" and leaders of the industry, touting the farm each time.

Incubator and Accelerator

A farm and local foods company system to advance the goals, mission, and awareness of local food throughout the state. From marketing to funding to land use, we are helping push local food to new heights.

Achievements

Helped multiple non-profit and for profit local food companies through the biz-dev process, from production to funding to market share education and success.

Veteran to Farmers

Working with VTF, we have created a program to advance farming in the Vet community at the farm, providing opportunities for Vets to take the next step in their farming aspirations.

Marketing/Media Exposure/Awards

With multiple media exposure, over 1 million social media views, national media attention, accolades and awards, the Farm is well positioned to achieve its goal of making Brighton the Local Foods Capital of Colorado.

Barn

Education

Working with multiple educational groups, the build out of the barn should more than double the average annual attendance at the farm. From hands on farming, to ag business classes, to classes for 27J on the "day off," the barn will be an incredible (and necessary) addition to the farm offering.

Farmers' Market

With the completion of the barn, we will expand our offering of local food sales with the introduction of a recurring Farmers' Market. While the wind has hampered the opportunity for a market, the barn will be the perfect place to have a year-round event for local food offerings.

Events

The completion of the barn will allow for multiple event offerings, year-round, including: Corporate Events, Barn Dances, Weddings, and most importantly, Farm to Table Dinners and more.
